

52ND BATT. PICTURES SHOWN AT THE ROYAL

Tomorrow and Thursday motion pictures showing the arrival of, and all ceremonies in connection with the return of the 52nd battalion, will be shown at the Royal theater. These local pictures were taken by Jack Fryer of Fryer's studio, who has been very successful with motion picture camera work. The pictures were screened for review at the Royal yesterday, and everyone who attended voted them immense. The pictures begin with the arrival of the train into the station at Port Arthur and show every important step in the proceedings in both Port Arthur and Fort William during the three days of the celebration.

The mayors of both cities and all civic officials, spectators and all the interesting events are fully shown, and we can recommend them to everyone as both interesting and historical.
