Fred Powell, who went overseas with the first draft of the 52nd battalion, and was drafted to the 8th Canadians, arrived in Fort William this morning, and was welcomed at the home of his mother on Gore street, his father, who also enlisted for overseas service, and was with one of the pioneer battalions, being still overseas.
Private Fred Powell returned on the Carmania, being detained on special duty at Bramshott camp, when the battalion left England as a unit. He was fortunate enough to come through the whole of the long campaign, from 1915 to 1919 without a scratch.
